From Lower California.

The late revolution in lower California, it is stated, in a letter to the Courier was brought about by a person named Uria, who has been imprisoned by Negrete, the late commander, for entering the port with his vessel under American colors, he being a citizen of Mexico.

From the letter dated La Paz, July 23, we learn the following particulars:—

That Uria was the owner of a vessel sailing from La Paz, who had permission from Commodore Thibault to wear the American flag, and when he entered Manzanillo made these colors, at the time allowed to be seen, not aware that the treaty of peace had been ratified.

On Manzanillo the Commodore met the Dale, and the latter vessel has since arrived here, bringing intelligence that the revolution remains the same.

Col Burton is here in command yet, having awaited orders from Cal Mexico before landing down on flag and evacuating the place. These orders have arrived but many Californians who have emigrated themselves in the war—under the supposition that Lower California would be returned by the United States—having expressed a desire to accompany the Americans to the upper country, the commanding officer decreed it to be their duty not to go as possessors of the country until the emigrants shall be ready to depart. Some of these go by land and others by sea. It is certainly a great pity that Lower California was given up at this point, as they are to the Gulf of California what G. Britain is to the Mediterranean. La Paz is the only really good harbor on the coast, South of San Francisco.

Yours in haste,

Col Burton.

The Courier of New York city, made an exceedingly brief notice of our field and very large and enthusiastic meeting on behalf of Taylor and Fillmore on Thursday night last. It was one of the largest, harmonious and satisfactory Whig meeting of the campaign. Resolutions were passed and addresses were made by orators from three different states. The workmen, who were in council upon the vital question whose will shall be the law of the land? that of the Executive or that of the People as expressed through their representatives in Congress assembled. They were addressed by the eloquence of Hon David Paul Brown of Philadelphia, Gasiorow, Howard, Greeley, Brooks, Delavan, the Poughkeepsie Blacksmith and others.

The Baltimore Gazette for October 21st has received from the Bangor Agents Messrs. George R. Smith & Co. its contents are highly interesting, while its pages are as beautiful as an annual gift book.

This is the closing number of the second volume and contains an index. The Editor of this work, Rev Mr Freeman has discharged his high duties with singular ability and fidelity. He is a man for an important position and there seems to have been a fair average certainty of success if not the great movements on the Continent in the projection of this work, and a Providence, we may say, in the direction of it.

The publishers have given to the public a work of great merit as far as the typographical character of their work is concerned, for which they deserve high commendation.

Single copies will be sold in future and those wishing the work should subscribe.

Georgia Election.

Georgia promises well for the Whigs. All ready they hold their own there in the list of members of Congress. The Local Whigs in Georgia, at Washington, and here have been trying upon large exposures in this State. Thus far we have elected four Congressmen in the former Whig Districts, gained one in the Second District, and run Harrell hard in the Fourth and he may be beaten. Well done Georgia! This is but a foretaste of the spontaneous combustion of next month!

Col James Smith, of the firm of Smith & Jones, Marketmen, has left at our office a large cabbage we have ever seen. It was raised by him in his prolific vegetable garden in this city. Divided of its outer leaves and root, this cabbage weighs 23 lb and measures four feet in circumference around the solid head. Can any one beat this specimen?

Gen Caswell sends such men as Washington rather small affairs. He says of the great patriot, in his eulogy on Louis Philippe, "The great error—and this is a common error in Europe—has been to assign to Washington too important a part, and to the body of the people too insignificant a share, in our great political drama."

Methodist Enterprise.

The Methodist Episcopal Board of Missions have adopted measures for the formation of a new Conference on the Pacific coast, as authorized by the General Conference. Two missionaries, says the Zion Herald will be sent by next spring to California.

A steamer belonging to the ship Rajah, at New York, was drowned while attempting to go on board the vessel with his daughter in his arms. He made a misstep and fell into the water. The child was with difficulty rescued.

A hold, said a Western editor, with dignified emphasis, "I hold as a self-evident principle, that no man should take a newspaper three consecutive years without making at least an apology to the editor for not paying for it."

The Farmington Chronicle advertises a public Meeting of the Local party to be held in that town, and States that Governor Dana and the two United States Senators of this State, and Members of Congress are to be present.

Rev Dr Judd of Augusta last week delivered a lecture before the Franklin County Teachers Institute on Moral Education. It is spoken of as an unusually interesting and popular, opening up this subject in a new and imposing light.

The American Phenomenological Journal for October opens with the Phenomenological character of Professor George Bush, of New York. This number is of more than ordinary interest, variety and utility. Mr. Olney at Harvard's Variety is the agent.

The son and daughter of Gen Taylor were on board the steamer Commodore, that exploded her boilers and killed several persons a few days ago on the Mississippi, but they fortunately escaped any injury.

A gentleman from River Wells, twenty miles below Quebec, writes us that since the late day of the 4th of July, he has seen no signs of the Whigs, and he is very much surprised to find that the Whigs are everywhere.

IRELAND.

The belief is gaining ground that T. D. Argy M'Gee, lately connected with the Fenian movement, is the author of the attack on the police barracks at Portlaoine, and that he is in that neighborhood still. There is no doubt that there are more Fenians than O'Hanlon. I am aware of Lord Waterford having received unquestionable information (which he credits) that a week or two ago, at a meeting of four or five leaders at the neighborhood of Carrigrohilly, it was resolved to make a capture of the Lordship of the manor, and to determine of venting an either a punishment similar to that awarded to the state prisoners.

Moyn—An outrage of a distressing nature was perpetrated in this parish on Saturday night last. All the windows of Mr. Ferguson's house (the Protestant clergyman of the parish) were smashed with stones about one or two o'clock.

Four more leaders in the late rebellion movements have been proclaimed. The first is William Mitchell, a brother of the convict John Mitchell, the second is Dr. Antonsell, the third is Edward Hollywood, and the fourth is John Kavanagh. It is said that one of the principal actors in the Ballingarry affair has been accepted as a witness of the crown, and that he has furnished a complete narrative of all the proceedings of Messrs O'Brien, Meagher, Lyne, and other chieftains of the Fenian movement.

The special commissioner appeared at Clonmel on Thursday. Chief Justice Blackburn charged the grand jury, after which they retired, and late in the day brought in their bill as usual.

Messrs. Smith O'Brien, Dr. Manus, Orchard and Humphreys, the Fenian prisoners were then placed at the bar, and on application, copies of the indictment were granted to them.

There is not the slightest excitement throughout the town, nor are there a dozen persons assembled in the neighborhood of the court house.

Mr. Cogan, having been prevented from attending a Whig meeting at his own town of Lebanon, in Ohio writes as follows:

UNION, Sept 29, 1848.

The State central committee having overlooked the meeting at Lebanon, arranged public meetings for me at Sydney and Green view, which they and others must I still attend.

Having visited a very considerable portion of Ohio, I am glad to say, that every day brings with it prosperity, which promises a harvest to our ticket.

The true character of General Taylor is only beginning to be known to the masses of the people, and I feel confident that his merits will be fully appreciated by the voters of Ohio. It needs only this to make his triumph certain. Yours truly,

THOMAS CORWIN.
